FREE TONTINE ENDOWMENT POLICIES.

(1.) The cash returns on "Endowments" are larger than on "life" policies.

(2.) You protect your family against the chance of your death and also lay up money for yourself.

An endowment policy is a better investment than savings-bank deposits. There is far greater security and far higher returns. Savings-banks are liable to "runs," which are impossible in life assurance institutions; while an endowment policy may return ten, twenty or thirty times the amount of the premiums paid.

Send the date of your birth to The Equitable, Florida, 377, and receive in return explanation of Tontine Assurance and an ILLUSTRATION giving figures at your own age.

Vienna, 13th—The Empress will attend the banquet to be given to the Czarevitch, whose visit is said to be a sign of better relations between Austria and Russia, and a fresh guarantee of peace.

Budapesth, 13th.—The Pester Lloyd says that the Czarevitch's visit to Vienna has something to do with the Bulgarian question, and he will thank Emperor Francis for Austria's moderate course in the questions between Russia and Turkey, and that of the closing of the Greek schools in Roumalia.

Vienna, 13th.—Emperor Francis will shortly go to Berlin to return Emperor William's visit.

Rome, 13th.—The tie elections are going in favour of Government. The Conservatives have won another eight seats and the Radicals four.

Monsignor Satolli has been given charge of the Vatican relics that are going to the Chicago Exhibition.

Belgrade, 13th.—The Skuptchina has met to discuss the financial Bills and will be dissolved at the end of December. Fresh elections in February.

Hamburg, 13th.—Five fresh cases of cholera and one death since Friday.

Berlin, 13th.—Professors Petenkofer and Emerich have made experiments on themselves by swallowing a great number of cholera baccili in soup. Up to the present a slight diarrhœa has been the only effect. The papers all praise the daring experiment.

Herr Bebel's report on the anti-Semitic movement will be discussed at the Socialist Congress to-morrow, and hot debates on the recent Socialist discord are expected.

London, 13th.—A mass meeting of 100,000 working men took place in Trafalgar Square to-day. Speeches were made advising unity in maintaining their rights, and a petition to Gladstone to keep his promise of reforms. The speeches were moderate in tone, and the utmost order was observed.

Berlin, 14th—The correspondent of the New York Herald here has been ordered to leave the country, for his indiscreet writing.

Vienna, 14th—Two Anarchists have been arrested here.

London, 14th—The crew of the tugboat Blake have been awarded prizes for having saved the British barque Kaffir near Montevideo.

Berlin, 14th—All that has been said about the Emperor's opposition to the Military Bill is quite untrue. His Majesty will support Caprivi, even if the Reichstag throw out the Bill, which has the Emperor's full approval.

It is known that the Conservatives and some influential members of the Catholic Centre are opposed to the Bill. The Progressists and Socialists will demand that the strength of the army be discussed annually, and not be postponed till 1899, as Government proposes.

Cork, 14th—The peasantry are preparing to honour the memory of the rebels of 1865.

Paris, 14th—The relations between France and the Vatican have become strained. The cause is not yet known, but it is believed to lie in the refusal of the French Government to adopt a more decided attitude in favour of the Church in opposition to Italy's policy towards the Pope.

Rome, 14th—General Viale, ex-Minister of war, is dead.

King Humbert, in his speech on opening Parliament, will refer to the Triple Alliance as solid, and to Italy's resolve to stick to it, as a guarantee of peace.

These declarations are considered necessary to refute the rumours that Italy intended to abandon the Triple Alliance.

(Per Havas Agency.)

Vienna, 13th—The Czarevitch arrived here to-day and was met at the station by the Emperor and the Archduke Charles Louis. The people gave the Russian Prince a cordial reception.

Rome, 14th — General Viale, ex-Minister of War, is dead.

The tie elections yesterday resulted in the return of 39 Ministerialists and 13 for the Opposition. There are 8 seats yet to be decided. Ex-Minister Bonghi has not been re-elected.

Vienna, 14th—The Czarewitch left for St. Petersburg this morning.

London, 14th—The enormous meeting of working men in Trafalgar Square yesterday took place with the greatest order.

(To the "Prensa".)

London, 13th.—The tin trade is reviving, owing to the free trade victory in the United States.

The strike in the cotton trade is over. Mr. Fowler, President of the Board of Trade, is urging Government to undertake public works to relieve the distress amongst the working classes.

The papers warn English manufacturers against the delusion some of them seem to entertain that the United States is about to adopt free trade.

Several serious accidents have occurred during a dense fog that covered the whole city.

Public opinion of all shades is averse to the proceedings of the Evicted Tenants Commissioners.

The British Government has decided to keep Uganda, and the order for evacuation has been rescinded.

General Dodds has shot three Germans, one Englishman and a Belgian who were found with the Dahomeyan army. The Britisher took part in the fight, the others no. The Amazon Corps fought with great bravery.

THE FOREIGN DEBT.

Our London friends, as the subjoined circular shews, are already on the alert as to the impending settlement of the Argentine debt. It is admitted on all hands that this country cannot carry out the Moratorio compact by resuming full payment in gold on and after 1st January 1894, and we have all along tried to impress on the Argentine Government and the bondholders that such stipulation was utterly impossible.

The bondholders are apparently willing to meet the Government half-way, and to consent to a reduction of the capital or interest of the debt, but they are by no means disposed to admit the preferential claim of the holders of the Pellegrini loan, who have been heretofore receiving payment in gold of the full amount of their coupons. This preference is based on the fact that the Custom-house revenues were specially mortgaged to the Pellegrini loan, but it must be borne in mind that the previous loan of 1884 had a definite lien on the general revenues of the republic, and consequently no subsequent loan could legally have a preference. Under the circumstances the wisest course to pursue would be to leave the question to be settled by the Lord Chancellor of England, and we have no doubt that the decision would be adverse to the Pellegrini bondholders.

The Financial Times of the 20th October contains the following :—

With respect to the Argentine settlement the following circular has been issued by Mr. Edwin Sloper, of Lombard-street :—"It is notorious that the new Argentine Government will shortly put forward a scheme for the rearrangement of its foreign debt, involving a reduction in the rate of interest. Under these circumstances it is necessary that the holders of the 1884 loans should carefully consider their position, as the question of priorities must naturally be taken into account. It has been contended that the loan of 1886 and the funded loan have a special charge over the Customs' receipts, but these pretentions are not founded in law or equity, as the following articles, taken from the general bond of the 1884 loan, demonstrate :—Article 5 of the law of 12th October 1882. There shall be created a public debt of 8,571,000 national piastres, paying five per cent. per annum, with a cumulative sinking fund of 1 per cent. per annum, operating by drawings by lot, in order to pay for the shares of the National Bank (60,000 shares subscribed by the Government.) Article 16. The service of the public debt created by the present law shall be defrayed out of the general revenues of the country, and shall be recouped by the dividends to be paid upon the shares. From this it is clear that the whole of the general revenues of the Argentine Republic were pledged for the service of the 1884 Bonds and any subsequent loans, whether secured on only part (as for example on the Customs receipts) or on the whole of the general revenues of the nation, rank after the loan of 1884. Being interested in this loan, I shall feel glad if the holders of the same will at once communicate with me, with a view to protect our rights and interests, which have already been infringed. I feel sure that were the case properly represented to the Argentine authorities our position would be recognised, and the market value of the 1884 loan would be, as it ought to be, above that of the loan of 1886."

In support of the above statements, extracts taken from the report of Señor Hansen, late Finance Minister of the Argentine Republic, dated 31st July, 1892, and presented to Congress, are appended.

THE THAMES MAILS.

London, Oct. 22nd.

Mr. Gladstone yesterday cut the first sod of the new Wirral Railway, a short line which, with the Dee Bridge, will form a most important link in a system of railways intended to facilitate the interchange of through traffic between South Wales and the manufacturing districts of Lancashire and Yorkshire. It is expected that the line will be used greatly for the conveyance of coal from South Wales to Birkenhead Docks. At a luncheon which followed the ceremony, Mr. Gladstone made an interesting speech on the development of English railways, and on the benefits which railways have conferred.

Thomas Neill, who since the beginning of the week had been on his trial at the Central Criminal Court for the murder of Matilda Clover, was yesterday found guilty by the jury after a very short deliberation. Mr. Justice Hawkins, in sentencing the prisoner to death, implored him to pray for divine forgiveness for a crime of "unparalleled atrocity." Throughout the proceedings Neill maintained an attitude of imperturbable composure, and made no sign on hearing the judgment of the Court.

The annual ball given by the Lady Mayoress to the Mayors and Provosts of the United Kingdom took place at the Mansion House last night, when a very large number of guests attended.

The formal dedication of the buildings of the World's Fair took place at Chicago yesterday, the whole city keeping holiday. Vice-President Norton presided in place of Mr. Harrison, and a very large and brilliant gathering included deputations from the Senate and the House of Representatives. Mr. Chauncey Depew, who delivered the Columbian oration, traced the development of liberty through the ages, declaring that in commemorating the discovery of America they were celebrating the emancipation of man. In noticing the effects of the American system of government abroad, Mr. Depew said that the Monarchy in England would not survive one unworthy successor of the Queen, and that the House of Lords would be abolished the moment it attempted to withstand the will of the people. He concluded by apostrophising Columbus as "Discoverer, dreamer, hero, and apostle."

Yesterday the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company received a message from Hong Kong which stated that the Bokhara left Shanghai on Oct. 8 and was wrecked two days later. One hundred and two of the crew are missing. There were more European passengers on board the vessel than was at first supposed. The total loss of life is now put at 125. From the list of names it is belived that several of the passengers were members of a cricket team returning to Hong Kong. The Bokhara had a valuable cargo, including $200,000.

Dom Michel, the new Superior-General of the Carthusians, was formerly a secular priest, known as the Abbe Baglin. He was born at Laval in 1840, and about nine years ago entered the monastery of his order, near Montreuil-sous-Bois, in the Department of the Pas-de-Calais. Before his election to his new post he was Prior of the Chartreuse at Valebonne in the Department of the Gard. Dom Michel will take up his duties in the monastery near Grenoble—the Grande Chartreuse—to-morrow, after having paid a visit to Monseigneur Fava, the bishop of the diocese, to whom, according to ecclesiastical etiquette, he is subordinate, although the head of a great order.

The steamship City of Paris has made another unprecedented run. She only left the Mersey at 3.10 a.m. on Tuesday, the 13th inst., and arrived at Sandy Hook on Wednesday morning, Oct. 19; so that the voyage from the Mersey to Sandy Hook was only 6 days, 2 hours, 24min., including her calling at Queenstown—a performance which has never before been approached. Her length of passage from Queenstown to Sandy Hook was 5 days, 14 hours, 24min., beating the previous record of 5 days, 15 hours, 58min. (her own). by 1 hour and 34min. The best day's run was 530 knots, and her average for the voyage 20 and 7-10th knots per hour, both new records.

Dalziel's Agency, dated Chicago, Oct. 18, states: A great fire broke out early this morning at Eaglewood, a suburb of this city. The loss is estimated at $500,000. Many of the guests in the Hotel Kent had narrow escapes, and several, it is feared, have lost their lives. A woman jumped from the third storey of the building and was killed.

Lemberg, Oct. 18

The trial will shortly commence here of an organised band of twenty-seven persons who are charged with having for years past carried on a traffic in Galician girls, who were sent to Constantinople.

Sixty of these girls were liberated by the Austrian Embassy in the Turkish capital, and forty-nine of them will give evidence during the judicial proceedings which will be held with closed doors.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

ODDS AND ENDS.

Oct 15.

We are short of sensational events this week. Lord Tennyson's funeral and the Argentine "boom" are all there is to talk about. As for the funeral, between you and me it was rather a slow affair. There was something wanting. I thought at first that instead of Dr. Bridge's pretty setting of Tennyson's "Crossing the bar," and of Lady Tennyson's setting of her husband's last poem "The silent voices," if we had heard a grand requiem mass with full orchestra it would have enlivened the proceedings, but on further reflection I discovered the real defect. There was no royalty present. A British function without a scrap of royalty is as an egg without salt. The Duke of Argyll—God bless him—was all very well, and as for Lord Salisbury, it was really very kind of him to come. The Pall Mall Gazette ridicules the mendacious hysterics of the Times which, in a leading article on the ceremony in the Abbey, spoke of "the greatest and best of the land" being present; which was rather rough on some of the "greatest and best," for as luck would have it the Times itself on the same day chronicles the fact that when the literary folk, the pious folk and the fussy female friends of the Dean and Chapter of St. Mary's Westminster were crowding into the Abbey to do honour to the memory of our great poet, the Prince of Wales, accompanied by the Duke of Cambridge, the Duke of Westminster, the Duke of Devonshire and Sir Arthur Sullivan, Mus. D., were on the trot to Newmarket. More in their way; but at the same time the Prince is very particular in matters of etiquette and, no doubt, he was properly advised by the court authorities. You see, Lord Tennyson was the poet laureate, and, therefore, a court servant. Many of us would gladly attend the funeral of our cook if he had been long in the family and was a deserving man, but it is not usual to do so; and all our morality is contained in that word "usual." It is quite possible that the Prince, the three dukes and the musician, had their little jokes over their cigars about what the Prince would call "poetry and all that," and spoke feelingly of poor "Tennyson," but they vastly preferred the fresh air of Newmarket Downs and the music of the bookmakers laying or taking odds on the "Tsarevitch" to the fu'th and cru'th in Westminster Abbey. And after all, as Mr. Alfred C. Calmour, one of the P. M. G. poets, expresses it, in sorry jingle—

"Let Kings have pageants, monumental shrines,
A poet's monument should be his lines."

Mr. William Morris, the socialist poet, has written an account of Tennyson's funeral to the Western News, and is of opinion that it was the best funeral that has taken place in the Abbey, there was such a genuine and beautifully subdued feeling among the people present. As a practical report, containing the names of the celebrities present and so on, I prefer the Daily Chronicle's and enclose it.

* * * *

Do you know what "exterioration" is? I thought you didn't. Well, if you hypnotize a woman, you can extract her sensibility and put it into a tumbler of water. If you put your hand in the water, she will start with pain. If you drink the water she falls into a death-like swoon. What becomes of you after you have swallowed her sensibility is not stated, but it can be assumed that the water sensibility and all is wholesome. It seems from the newspaper paragraph I am quoting, which gives an account of Dr. Luys' experiments at the Charite hospital in Paris, that you can also transfer the subject's sensibility to the negative of a photograph. If you scratch the portrait—say the hand of the figure—with a pin, the woman hypnotized screams with pain, and in a few minutes, a mark similar to that on the negative, appears upon the hand of the "subject." This is of tremendous interest. It means either the formation of a new religion or the confirmation of the miraculous elements in the old. It is all of a piece with recent discoveries in electric vibrations. The question is, how far does or may exterioration extend? What is called "sensibility" is obviously a substance—tangible and transferable. The very word "psychology" is vanishing. It has no meaning. It is, perhaps, on that account, that in the last number of Mind, rather tinged with the old metaphysic, I observe that the news editor, Mr. Stout, tries to put hypnotism in the background.

* * * *

I feel sorry I was not present at the Columbus function at the Metropole. Mr. Alexander Mackinnon, with his accustomed politeness, sent me a ticket, but by a mere chance I did not receive it in time. Señor Tamini, as the soul of the Ibero-American community, was, of course, a leading figure at the banquet, at which the Spanish Ambassador, the Marques de la Casa Iglesia, presided. Several British noblemen and celebrities took part in the proceedings, which you will find fully reported in the S. American Journal. Messrs. Samson and Dunlop orated. At New York the demonstration in honour of the great Italian was on a very gigantic scale; but I do not find any picturesque details that will bear transferring from the sombre American framework of big streets, big crowds, big illuminations and big speeches.

* * *

Sir Augustus Harris has battled before the County Council committee against the opposition of rival varieties such as the Empire, the Pavilion and the Alhambra; and has succeeded in getting a license for the Palace Theatre in Shaftesbary Avenue, where 'Ivanhoe' fell, sweeping away in its fall all present hopes of a revival of English opera. Sir Augustus has succeeded only in getting a licence "to smoke." The McDougal element in the Council swamped the advanced idea of "drinks" in the auditorium. Sir Augustus is also bound to have no promenade in the theatre, and to surrender his Lord Chamberlain's license in May next. That is, our councillors are not yet disposed to tolerate the drama, opera, promenade concert, ballet, tumbling, conjuring, smoking, drinking and temporary and idle dallyings in the establishment. And why? Heaven knows. The idea seems to be that as all these things are either sinful in themselves or conducive to sin, it is better to spread them over a large surface, so that allowing them to exist, they will be less visible and the morals of the community can be preserved. It was delightful to see the unctuous interest with which the McDougals inquired of the inspector of police who attends the Alhambra, if he had seen any of the ladies "solicit." Of course the man had never seen such a thing. He was perhaps paid to say so. It is thus that these idiots with the best intentions multiply vices or supplant one by another that is worse.

The end of it is that Sir Augustus Harris, who with his knowledge and "go" might have inaugurated at the Palace Theatre a school of English operettes and short dramatic scenes, will be driven to "leg pieces," dress-pieces, show-pieces and all the gorgeous and expensive insanities of the Empire and the Alhambra. The Palace opens on the 10th December.

MAILS FROM CHILE

Valparaiso, Nov. 5th

A slight earthquake shock occurred in Santiago on Thursday, and another yesterday.

Arica was visited with a severe shock of earthquake on Wednesday.

Mr. William Frederick Jubbs has been appointed consul of Chili in Southampton.

Faustino Palma, the murderer of the Frenchman, Audoin, who was in charge of the wine cellars on the estate of Vicuña, at Pirque, on December 15th last, was executed in the jail at Buin on Tuesday morning.

In the course of a debate in the House of Deputies on Thursday the Minister of Finance said in his reply to Deputy Walker: "I am in favour of selling the Nitrate Properties. Their care and preservation costs the State a large sum of money and they yield no return as they are."

At the same sitting Deputy Vergara advocated the sale of the State Railways. He said: "By selling the lines the Government would obtain more than sufficient to pay its debts, and it would have a surplus large enough to defray the cost of the lines in course of construction."

The Chilian Minister to Peru, Vial Solar, left on Thursday for Lima. The Minister came here a few weeks ago in connection with the Bacourt-Errazuriz protocol, and his conduct in the management of this very delicate business has received the full approval of the Foreign Office.

It is currently reported that the company, consisting exclusively of Italians, which was formed for the purpose of raising the Blanco Encalada refuses to advance any more money, and that the undertaking will be abandoned.

A few days ago there died on her lands at Sauces, Rosa, widow of the Cacique Pascual Yempi. The funeral was celebrated with the customary Araucanian ceremonies, and was attended by Huenchecal and other caciques, and a considerable number of mocetones. The body of the defunct chieftainness was embalmed, and then suspended from a beam over smoke for nine days, incantations and other ceremonies being performed without ceasing. She has left no heirs, and covetous longings are being cast towards her lands. A number of persons went from Sauces with wine and liquor expecting to drive a good trade with the Indians, which there is no doubt they would have done had the authorities not interfered and stopped the sale and fined the owners of the liquors.

At 10.10 p.m. on Tuesday an alarm of fire was given at Santiago, the place endangered being the building at No. 165, Compañia-street, belonging to don Juan Esteban Tagre. It appears that the servant woman in charge of the premises had left a lighted lamp on a table, which caught fire, and the flames spread to some other articles of furniture, but they were extinguished without difficulty and before much damage was done. Two hours later fire appeared again in the same room, but in the ceiling, and the flames spread to No. 163, belonging to doña Modesta Montes. No. 167 was insured in 40,000 dols. and the furniture in 10,000 dols. The furniture in 165 was insured in the Union Comercial for 5,000 dols. and in the Imperial for 5,000 dols. The building at 163 was insured in several companies for 40,000 dols. Immediately after the first fire at No. 165 was extinguished the tenant effected a verbal insurance, and the claim was settled on the day following by the agents, Messrs. Arturo Claro and Son.

GENERAL ROCA'S RETIREMENT.

In an interview with the editor of the Tribuna General Roca announces his intention of withdrawing from public life. We summarize the General's statements as follows:

"Yes, I am retiring into private life. It is time for me to look after my private interests. Besides, my health has broken down and I feel that my mind needs repose. There is nothing extraordinary in my decision. For the last 20 years I have devoted all my time and energy, in different posts, to the public welfare. Who could resist such a strain? I do not regret events to which I have contributed. I am satisfied with the work and with my conduct. It has always been my aim, in public life, to maintain peace and authority. I proclaimed that principle when I became president in 1880, and I have always upheld the principle. Possibly I have erred through excessive zeal in preventing disorder. But my object was sound and patriotic. I refused to become candidate to the presidency in order to prevent the collision of parties. When the revolution of 1890 broke out, I did my best to stop bloodshed and save the institutions of the country, for I was convinced that it was possible to effect a complete political change without spilling blood and destroying national institutions; in other words, without involving a calamity which would have taken us back to 1820. I formed part of the Government after the revolution, and while I was engaged in preparing a grand political evolution I did not hesitate for one moment to propose General Mitre as candidate for the presidency. I resigned the portfolio to have more time to overcome opposition and carry out my idea. The resignation of General Mitre was a great disappointment to me. At one time it seemed as if my work had failed, but the imminence of common danger brought us again together and we arrived at a new combination which has triumphed. I believe the country has now entered on an era of tranquillity. Let us hope that a spirit of equity and justice will prevail and that impatient ambition will fall to the general level of opinion. The political parties, too, need repose. It is impossible to be always on guard. Besides, we have settled the presidential question. Let us put by our arms. I am determined to keep away from the active scenes of politics. Besides, my remaining away may be considered as an advantage upon which I may congratulate myself.

THE SCOTCH CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC.

The fine day on Friday brought together a very large assemblage of children and their friends for this picnic, which was held at the Victoria Convalescent Home.

The children from San Martin and Belgrano came in by early trains, and were conveyed by special trams from the Central Station to Plaza Constitucion, where the children from the city assembled. A special train left soon after 9 a.m. with the party, picking up on the way the Barracas Sunday School. A delightful walk through the fields brought the party to the grounds of the Home, which never looked better.

The day went past only too quickly, although the hour of return was later than formerly.

Cricket, football, rounders, skipping rope, swings, "kiss-in-the-ring, races, and other games were indulged in all day long, except during intervals for lunch and tea. Music was supplied during the day by a small but efficient band. Most of the teachers in the Sunday Schools and a few volunteers worked hard in supplying the varied needs of the picnickers, but we feel sure they must have had their reward in seeing how fully the children and the people generally enjoyed themselves.

The principal races were won by Misses Jessie Fraser, Carlota Alston, Florence Martin, Alexandra Grant, Effie Macgregor, Annie Southam, Mabel Barnes and Bella Brown, and by Masters John Oates, Fred Boyd, A G Bridge, E Temperley and A Perkins.

Hearty cheers were given to Mr. Juan Drysdale and Mr. Thomas Drysdale, who supplied the prizes, to Mr. and Mrs. Carson, the Superintendent and Matron of the Home, to the Committee of the Convalescent Home, to the teachers of the Sunday Schools, to the friends who had helped by giving money and other gifts, to Rev. J W Fleming, etc.

About 5.30 the party broke up. At this time there must have been between 300 and 400 children and 200 and 300 adults on the ground, and the long train of 14 large carriages was completely and even uncomfortably filled. However, the city was reached without mishap at 7 o'clock, most people having spent a very enjoyable day.

BELGRANO POLO CLUB.

The "Belgrano Polo Club" entertainment on Saturday night cannot be termed an 'unqualified' success. We presume the blame—if any one is really to blame—for arriving so late was due to the threatening aspect of the weather, but even then, we think, the "8.30 p.m. punctually" might have been somewhat more closely adhered to. However, the curtain did at last rise to the comedietta entitled "A Husband in Clover" by H. Merryvale. A bright amusing little piece. "Horace" was played by Mr. R. H. Morgan to a somewhat noisy audience as the back part of the hall was being filled by late comers, and it was easy to see that "Horace" was not in sympathy with his house and took little or no trouble to fill his part as was expected by those who have seen Mr. Morgan on previous occasions. The part of "Lydia" was charmingly rendered by Miss Webster, with a wonderful insight into the feelings of her audience, now showing jealousy, now tragedy and despair and sweet sentimentality, changing to each with a rapidity which was simply wonderful. We beg to congratulate her most heartily upon saving the first part of the evening from falling flat and cold and thereby chilling the remainder. We now come to "Who's to win Him" by J. J. Williams, also a light comedy. The stage-management of this piece has been in very capable hands, and Mrs. Goodwin must be sincerely congratulated upon the success this piece achieved. When an amateur stage-manager has three gentlemen and five ladies to coach and hold together for all rehearsals, it is no light task, and nothing but such a brilliant success as that of Saturday night, can repay all the trouble and time spent upon it. The piece opens with "Squire Brushleigh" and "Rose," in a pretty garden scene with a tastefully decked summer house in the background. Mr. Cassels filled the role of the Squire admirably both in appearance and acting. Miss Troutbeck looked charming as the unsophisticated little girl, and no one was surprised when at the end she was the living answer to the title of the piece. Mr. Still acted the part of "Cyril Dashwood," and lent himself to the part with that ability which has hitherto brought him to the front in everything he sets himself to do.

The Misses Foster and Moores and Mrs. Tebbutt and Mrs. Lovett made a charming quartette of various phases of feminine character. The two former particularly enchanted the audience. Miss Foster, by her graceful and delightful dance (which was encored by the audience but not replied to), and Miss Moores, by the delightful rendering of the sentimental "love sick maiden." Mr. Tebbutt kept the House in roars of laughter as "Prattleton Primrose," and was simply perfect in his part. He must have "thought it over" a great deal!

After these two Dramatic Sketches the room was cleared and dancing kept up with great enthusiasm until quite a late hour.

We must conclude our remarks by expressing the warmest wishes for the future of the Polo Club of Belgrano, and trust they will flourish and prosper as they deserve.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

As announced, the meeting of the managing Committees of the different musical associations of B. Ayres, took place on Thursday last in the rooms of the Union Chorale Belge. The object of the meeting, promoted by Engineer A. Fremond, was to discuss the idea of giving musical entertainments in the hall of the Preliminary (Chicago) Exhibition in the splendid Duran Building. The idea was unanimously accepted, the different Committees promising to contribute towards the carrying out of this very excellent project. The meeting elected a committee as follows:—Chairman, Engineer A. Fremond; Sec., L. Frison; Committee, Eduardo F. Garcia, (representing Argentine Musical Associations) Manuel Castro Lopes (Spanish M. A.), Telemachus Lorenzini, (Italian do.), A. Balleste (French do), and F. Dupret (Belgian do.)

Mr. Julio Victorica, President of the Argentine Committee of the Chicago Exhibition, has decided that 25% of the proceeds of these entertainments shall be given for charitable objects.

In the course of a pithy speech, Mr. Fremond pointed out that the meeting had another object, which should not be overlooked, namely that these musical entertainments would serve as a basis for future competition amongst the Associations, as is the custom in Europe, an excellent method for stimulating musical talent here.

The idea, we may say, is an excellent one, and while congratulating Mr. Fremond on his efforts to carry it out, we trust it will prove a success from every point of view.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Sunday was a grave, gay, lively and severe day. In the new Dissenters' Cemetery at the Chacrita the British, German and American residents consecrated their pretty new chapel and burying ground. It may interest the communities referred to to learn the price of last homes in their new Cemetery; to wit;—Special grave $100; border ditto $75; ordinary $50; all in perpetuity. The fees are $6 for children and 12 for adults. Yesterday the first interment was made in the new ground, that of a Jew child.

"From grave to gay:" from Chacrita to Barracas, where the Dons held high revel from morn till dewy eve, and had such a lot of fun of all kinds that it makes our pen dizzy to think of it.

'From lively to severe:' Severe losses by fire occurred while all the grave, gay and lively doings were going on. Mr. Themistocles Cantera, an eminent soap-boiler in Calle Progreso (A man whose father bestowed a Greek name on him should scorn to make soap) lost $20,000 by his premises blazing up; his next door neighbour, without the advantage of a Greek name, is minus the same amount. A stableman in Calle Mayo is weeping over the loss of $100, and the proprietor of a lighter groaning over a $2,500 hole in his pocket caused by the craft blazing up and then going down.

Tetrazzini's benefit to-night at the San Martin Theatre will be a royal treat, as, in addition to a splendid "pot pourri" bill of fare, the gifted artiste will sing the cavatina from the "Barber" and the rondo from Lucia di Lammermoor.

O'Kill continues to draw like a magnet at the Zarzuela Theatre. House crammed on Saturday and Sunday nights. Ex-President Pellegrini was there on the former.

We thank Captain Stapledon of the fine Lamport and Holt steamer Hevelius for the large supply of English papers he so kindly sent us yesterday. Also Messrs. Galli Bros. for a similar favour.

Some unpleasantness between the medical students and one of their most distinguished Professors is reported.

The flower Corso wind-up on Sunday was not so crowded as on the previous days, but the flower-throwing was fast and furious. The total financial result is $20,000 for charity. Rather good this. The crisis in social circles is evidently past and gone. Never before has amusement produced so much money for charity, amongst all the nationalities of the city, as during the season now drawing to a close.

We warmly welcome Mr. Casey's "gauchos" on their return from the Buffalo Bill Show in London. The nine of them are looking first-class, and they say that they were enchanted with London and the "Ingleses." One of them, Palacios, has learned to speak English and takes nothing but tea for his breakfast. A STANDARD representative called on them yesterday with a view of gathering their impressions of London and putting them into publishing shape. We keep over our representative's report for to-morrow. The Gauchos are off to Chicago in March.

Musical readers and pleasure seekers! To-morrow we shall publish the detailed programme of the entertainment to take place in the American Church on that evening. This is an opportunity for those living on the Southern line and at Quilmes, as each have a late train that night. We understand that flowers, programmes, etc. will be sold by pretty children in pretty fancy costumes, and the refreshments will be sold by—well, words fail us.

The captain of the "Oasis" has furnished a Lima paper with the following yarn. After leaving Chao a fat hen fell overboard, and it was swallowed by a large shark which was following in the wake af the vessel. Twenty-four hours after the occurrence the shark, which continued to follow the vessel, was caught with a baited hook, and on being ripped open on board, the hen was found whole in the shark's inside, just as if it had been swallowed quite recently.

The schooner Chubut leaves the Boca to-day, Tuesday, for Port Madryn and Rawson, Chubut, taking several passengers and general cargo. Mail closes at General Post Office at midday to-day.

One of our colleagues refers with jubilee to the "broom" in Argentine securities in London. The Baring guarantors certainly seem to be sweeping their River Plate securities into the hands of the investing public; and this is exactly what the broom was made for.

Oh! The Minister of the Interior and the Primitive Gas Company are having a "fite." H. E. has sent the Primitive's note back to it; and says that if the Company do not turn on the gas again to Government House within three days, the police will do it. This is awful. Many years ago a Governor of Buenos Ayres turned the police into gas-men in the same way; and for many days the population was in hourly dread of being blown over the moon by the explosion of the gasometers.

The pilgrimage to Lujan was the greatest of successes. Over 10,000 people present. The arrangements were so perfect that not a single hitch occurred the whole day, and the enormous concourse went and came back to town in perfect comfort. The ceremonies in the church were very imposing; but not one half the pilgrims could enter it, such was the crowd.

There was nothing alarmingly fresh from Santiago of the Swamp yesterday; but there appears to be some hole in the Intervention ballad which may or may not grow larger.

In Rosario now the police authorities have to fall back on young boys to recruit the ranks of the guardians of life and property, as men refuse to enter a force in which their services are paid in postage stamps. An amusing scene was witnessed in the streets there the other day, when a big, bearded "changador" was arrested by a boy policeman barely 14 years old. The prisoner went quietly with his youthful captor, probably afraid of a clip from his sword if he attempted to escape.

We have received from London a copy of "the Stamp Collector" (Paris Exhibition number.) We have no objection to make a circulating library of it, free, for the benefit of our subscribers.

The report of Dr. Araoz, President of the National Railway Board, en on the terrible scandals in connection with the Central North line was published yesterday, and made the hair of the public stand on end. The Central Northern almost beats the Bateman Legacy for "escandolos inauditos."

The master bootmakers held a meeting on Sunday, and their workmen on strike marched through the streets in procession with flags and music. Both masters and men came to the same resolve—not to yield. We hope the strike won't last too long. Strikes are at best bootless affairs.

The National Labour Office wants over 1500 hands, yet there are over 1600 in the Immigrants' Hotel. How is this?

A slashing velocipede fete was performed on Sunday. At 6½ a.m. Messrs. Ramondenc, hairdresser, of 414 Calle Cangallo, Slopper, of the British Bank, and Savans of the Prat clothes-cleaning factory started to bicycle to Lujan and back in the day, and have a peep at the pilgrimage. Mr. Savans was done up before Lujan was reached, as the roads were awful; but Messrs. Ramondenc and Slopper reached that town at 11.30, and were back in this at 6 p. m. They had covered 65 kilometres of execrable roads; and it is a marvel how they managed to pull through.

Here is the latest story of President Harrison. When passing through Philadelphia the other day the carriage conveying him to the ferry was delayed for a time at Ninth street. A small newsboy standing on the curbstone called out—"Mister, give us a ride?" "Where are you going?" asked the President. "To Camden," was the reply. "Jump in, then," said the President, and the boy clambered eagerly into the carriage, his stock of papers under his arm. When the ferry was reached the boy presented his unknown companion with one of his newspapers, which token of acknowledgment Mr. Harrison cordially accepted, and shook hands with the boy as he left.

There was a prodigious crowd at the Swiss Rifle Tournament on Sunday. Over 5,000 entradas sold. Shooting began at 6 a. m. and was kept up all day, the enormous number of 14,000 shots being fired. Mr. Droz of Esperanza Colony won both Big and Little Cups, and stood at the head of the list of winners. Nearly all the competitors were from the wheat colonies.

At the opening of Duran's splendid cigar shop in Calle Piedad on Saturday night some curious manners were displayed by some "Jovenes", who seemed to be under the impression that the proper way to drink champagne in polite society is with the bottle in the right hand and the glass in the left, neither to be relinquished till the former is emptied.

The Entre Rios wools are beginning to arrive at the Central Produce Market; they are in worse condition than last year, being short and earthy. Patagonian wools are also coming in; they are mostly of inferior quality.

The following lots of wool were sold this morning in Plaza Constitucion by Henrique Thompson é hijo :—

Kilos.		$ per 10 kilos.

Messrs. G. Kelsey and Co. report the following wool sales :—

The Department of Engineers applied to-day to the Government for 81,923$% to complete the road between the town of Goya and Lamas.

The Land and Colonies Office has sent a note to the Government stating that there is no objection to the Chubut Municipality extending the Chubut Colony by taking over 100 leagues of fiscal lands: all the rights of the National Government must necessarily be respected.

The gold avalanche continued at the second ring in the midst of great speculative excitement. The big dealers came down on the market with horse, foot and artillery, sweeping all resistance before them. About one million dollars changed hands: the premium for to-morrow opened at 196 %, tumbled to 194.30% and closed weak at 194.50%. Operations for the end of the month closed at 194% for the end of December at 193.50%, and for the end of January at 192%. Over two million gold dollars were sold at the second ring to-day, and an equally important business may be expected to-morrow, which is the fortnightly settlement. The gold business is growing rapidly, much quicker even than brokers contemplated; and ere long we shall see much of the money locked up at present in banking vaults launched into the speculative arena.

Stocks and shares were active at the second ring. Over four thousand Patriotic Bonds were sold at advancing prices, closing at 73.80 for to-morrow, 74 for the 30th inst., and 74⅛ for the end of December. Internal Bonds were also brisk and very bullish; the price for to-morrow rose like a roket to 68⅛ to 68.50 for the end of the month, and 69 for the end of December. Even Catalinas picked up and looked much stronger at 8.60. Municipal Consols closed at 65.30 for to-morrow, 65.80 for the 26th and 30th inst., and 66.20 for the end of December. La Plata Cedulas flared up to 32.50 and 32.60. The Bolsa to-day reminded one of the booming times of three years ago, such was the speculative vitality at the ring and the excitement amongst operators. Brokers state that the commissions of this month beat the record of the last two years: they are all in the best of humours, but they may get headaches at the end of the month.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the second ring to-day :—
